IRELAND WAS SPEEDY

BARACAS, PHILATHEAS, J. O. C.'S AND OTHERS HEAR EVANGELIST

The various nights of this week at the First Methodist church Revival Mission have aroused much interest. Last evening was "Baraca, J. O. C., Philathea, Junior Baraca and Senior Department night," and these various organizations in connection with the church turned out in large numbers. Each night of the week has been a special night. Tonight will be Sunday School night, when all departments are expected to be present with parents and friends.

Evangelist Ireland was in good spirits last night and gave a rapid-fire, intense message. He has a passion for men and when a great company of men are in the service, he is delighted. The company of young men present pleased him immensely. He said: "If you get a good start you will not grieve because of failure in life. Get off on the right foot. You can mould a good life or a petty, mean, contemptible thing out of youth. The acrobat starts training in his tricks when a child; if he left it till old age he would break his neck. It is hard to teach an old dog new tricks. How much this old world would have missed if Gipsy Smith had not turned to God till his old age. Parents, don't starve your children's souls for the sake of oranges and lemons or real estate. Money will never fill the place in their lives that a noble Christian manhood will. I heard of an old farmer who loved money so well that he crossed his bees with lightning bugs so they could work all night. It is said that when Blucher saw London he exclaimed, 'What a city to loot!' but when General and Mother Booth saw the great city they said, 'What a city to save!' It is what we put into life that counts. The farmer puts a grain of corn in the ground and God multiplies it an hundred-fold. Put your lives in God's hands and he will fill them with blessings. It takes time to grow a giant Sequoia; but you can grow a squash in a few months. What do you want to be? Give God a chance and time and he will make your life worth while."

The evangelist poured forth his message in a stream of wit, humor, pathos and argument with tremendous earnestness.

Tonight promises to be a great service.

TELLS OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Edgar H. Sargent, who was driving the auto in which Mrs. Sloan and Dorothy Bonnell were seated when the unfortunate accident occurred on Central avenue, Wednesday night, states that his car was proceeding along Central at a very moderate pace, when the Thompson Buick appeared coming south. Mrs. Sloan was seated in the Dorris car on the front seat beside Mr. Sargent. Dorothy Bonnell was seated behind and Mrs. Ed Kirri was standing on the footboard.

The Dorris car, with the Sloan party was on the right hand of the avenue and was intending to turn down Myrtle street, which is only about half a block away from that point. Mr. Sargent says his car had the right of way and that he carried all the lights prescribed by the law.

According to Mr. Sargent the Thompson car was about to turn down Second street to the east, when he changed his mind and straightened out his car as though to proceed down Central avenue. Sargent perceiving the inevitability of a clash swerved his car toward the west and sought to avoid the collision. The Buick car, however, struck the Dorris on the rear end, throwing out Dorothy Bonnell, who was struck violently on the face by the Buick radiator and then thrown to the street. Meantime the Dorris car was almost tipped over by the impact but righted itself and Sargent was forced to run it up on the lawn at the northwest corner of Second and Central. Like all accidents the unfortunate affair happened in a moment.

BAECHT-NYE WEDDING

Helen M. Nye and Charles G. Baecht were married at the home of the Rev. F. A. Field, 239 S. Kenwood, Thursday evening, March 30. The Rev. F. A. Field solemnized the union. Miss Nye, who was unattended, was dressed in white silk and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. Only members of the family and a few intimate friends witnessed the marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Baecht left Thursday evening for their home in Williams, Arizona.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Saturday; north winds.

ENFORCE GAME LAWS

COMMISSIONER'S PATROLM E N GATHER UP MANY OFFENDERS

Even the lapse of time does not cover the tracks of the transgressor against California's deer laws. Wednesday, Tony Ferriera, Portuguese, was arrested by Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Harry D. Becker at Cohen's ranch near La Crescenta, and later convicted before Justice H. M. Miller of Glendale for killing a doe out of season last fall. A fine of $100 was imposed which the defendant proceeded to raise. But for the fact that he was a man of family with five children, and Deputy Becker interceded, even a higher fine would have been imposed, it being proved that Ferriera shot this doe in the Forest Reserve, the minimum fine for which is $100; that he had shot rabbits and quail there also, and was an alien without any hunting license to boot. Ferriera passed the night in Glendale jail under Deputy Becker's surveillance.

Deputy Becker and witness O. A. Mercer did quite a job of sleuthing, digging up the doe's head and hide for evidence, the defendant's wife trying to conceal it, and the head being buried up the canyon, but they persuaded the man that he would fare a great deal better by not forcing them to search his house, which they were prepared to do, and finally the remainder of the hide was produced from a bureau-drawer where it had been concealed.

The idea is spreading that the fish and game laws mean business, and Fish and Game Commissioner Connel's active field-patroimen have been gathering up some offenders on sea or land every few days since the first of the year. Deer cases are provided with high minimum penalties, and this makes two that Deputy Becker has made in the last six weeks, both infractions being for killing does.

Acting upon a warrant sent down from Fresno by Deputy and Game Commissioner S. L. N. Ellis calling for the arrest of Geo. P. Shields of 390 Pacific Electric Bldg., Los Angeles, on a charge of violating the deer law in the San Joaquin valley, Deputy Pritchard made the arrest, and secured check for $100 for bond for the defendant's appearance in Fresno April 20.

MAP OF GLENDALE REPRESENTING FIVE CITY ELECTION PRECINCTS AND FIFTEEN COUNTY PRECINCTS

Tomorrow, Saturday, April 1, will be published in the Evening News a map of Glendale, giving the outline of the County and City Voting Precincts. Glendale is divided into 15 precincts for County, State and National elections, and for municipal elections the city is divided into 5 voting precincts. The management of the Evening News has decided to place in every home in Glendale a copy of tomorrow's issue of the Evening News, containing this information.

These papers will not be delivered in a careless manner, but will be placed on the porches, or inside of the door of every residence. The publisher guarantees that this issue will be the most thoroughly circulated of any issue of the Evening News ever published in Glendale.

THIEF GOT NEW MATTRESS

Some thief who had evidently sized up conditions at the home of Mrs. C. M. Carpenter, 1305 Hawthorne, got into the backyard Wednesday when nobody was around and stole a new hair mattress valued at $12. The mattress had the name "C. M. Carpenter, Glendale, Cal," on one side in large plain letters. It was covered with brown ticking. It was a large-size mattress. No trace of the thief has been found.

VICTIMS OF AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, who was so seriously injured in an auto accident Wednesday night, is getting along as well as can be expected, with three broken ribs. She is suffering greatly from shock, but as far as can be seen at present will ultimately recover.

Dorothy Bonnell, who sustained a fracture of one of the cervical vertebrae and displacement of three of the cervical vertebrae, as well as a basal fracture of the skull, in the same accident, had not regained consciousness up to 1 p. m.today. Both sufferers are in the Glendale Sanitarium, where they are receiving the best of care and surgical attention.

AMERICAN TROOPERS DEFEAT VILLISTAS

SEVENTH CAVALRY SMASHES VILLISTA BODY OF 500—KILL LEADER AND 30 MEN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, March 31.—According to a dispatch received here today by Mexican Consul Garcia from Lieut.-Col. Davila, who is at Casas Grandes, the Seventh Cavalry encountered 500 Villistas at San Geronimo, March 30. The Villistas were under the command of Belisio Hernandez. The Villistas lost Hernandez and 30 troopers. Many of the Mexicans were wounded. The Villistas lost two rapid-id-fire guns, a large number of saddles, horses, ammunition and supplies.

Villa himself was not in the battle. He is said to have been wounded in the last fight with the Carranzistas and to be hiding in the vicinity of Guerrero. Col. Dodd's cavalry struck the Villistas about 6 a. m. near Guerrero and followed them up rapidly. Villa is said to be suffering from a broken leg and other injuries.

FRENCH EVACUATE RUINS OF MALANCOURT

THREE MASSED ATTACKS GIVE GERMANS POSSESSION OF VILLAGE AFTER HEAVY LOSS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PARIS, March 31.—The French troops evacuated the ruins of Malancourt village, which was pounded to pieces by the German big howitzers and finally fell into their hands after three massed attacks had been hurled against it. The French guns mowed the Teutons down in enormous numbers. The French troops are still holding trenches through a part of the town. All attempts of the Germans to recapture Avocourt have been repulsed.

SAN FRANCISCO CHINATOWN RAID

ONE CHINAMEN KILLED AND SEVERAL INJURED WHEN POLICE BREAK INTO OPIUM JOINT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—One Chinaman was killed and several injured Thursday evening when the police broke into Wah Sat's Chinatown opium joint and notorious oriental resort. The police used axes to break down four doors that guarded the inner sanctum. Forty Chinamen escaped from the back of the building across a frail and shaky plank fifty feet above the ground. One Chinaman fell from the plank and was killed. Others were wounded in the first rush into the rooms.

GERMANS LOSE 20,000 AT MALANCOURT

TEUTON LOSSES IN RECENT ATTEMPTS TO TAKE FRENCH POSITION EXCEEDINGLY HEAVY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, March 31.—Twenty thousand Germans were killed in the recent attempts of the Teutons under the crown prince to take the French positions at Malancourt. This is a moderate estimate by French officers who state that they have underestimated the losses rather than exaggerated them. The German losses during the past few days are the heaviest ever recorded.

JAPANESE LINER AGROUND OFF HONGKONG

MAIL STEAMSHIP CHIYO MARU IN DANGEROUS POSITION ON THE COAST OF CHINA

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—The Japan Mail Steamship Company's fine liner, the Chiyo Maru, ran aground this morning 29 miles off Hongkong. The passengers are being removed from the ship. No lives have been lost. It has not been possible to ascertain the extent of the damage to the vessel. The Chiyo Maru lies in a badly exposed position and may become a total wreck should a storm arise. It is believed she can be towed off.

CLYDE MACHINISTS ON STRIKE AGAIN

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

GLASGOW, March 31.—Two thousand Clyde munitions workers went out on strike today. It was thought that the decision made by the Amalgamated Society of Engineers had settled all the grievances in the Clyde munitions factories, but new trouble has arisen. The men refuse to work on the big guns under present conditions.

TRIP TO THE CLOUDS

C. H. SIPLE OF CANADA ENJOYS UNIQUE JOURNEY IN THE SOUTHLAND

Hearing from his brother, R. A. Siple of the Brand Boulevard garage, 421 South Brand, a great deal by letter about the beauties and advantages of Southern California and of Glendale in particular, C. H. Siple of Woodstock, Ontario, Canada, came down from the snows of the north to see what kind of a truthteller his brother had been in this wonderful climate. He is now ready to confess that the half was not told him. In fact, so pleased is Mr. C. H. Siple with the City of Glendale, with its mountains, its water, its agriculture and its climate that he is anxious to get home again in order that he may make arrangements for leaving Canada and settling in the glorious Southland.

"It is likely that I will return to Glendale to settle here," said Mr. Siple to a representative of the Glendale Evening News. "My brother, R. A. Siple, was perfectly right when he told me that if I once realized what kind of a climate Glendale had I would never rest till I settled in this city. Everything here is pleasing and agreeable. The people of Glendale are the most agreeable to strangers I have ever known. I have received countless civilities at their hands.

"Mrs. M. O. Morehouse, 133 Lomita avenue, is my sister, and she is as great an enthusiast over Glendale and its advantages as my brother, R. A. Siple, or as I myself am likely to become. Glendale is a veritable 'Garden of Eden.' I leave Friday for Canada and will return to settle in Glendale soon, I hope.

"On my trip out I came by way of Chicago and Kansas City. The country everywhere was flooded and we were taken 1000 miles out of our way, by way of Yuma. Striking California by way of Riverside and San Bernardino counties we came into a paradise of citrus fruits which greatly charmed us. I visited all the country throughout the southern counties and was delighted with the wonderful fertility that was to be seen everywhere. Orange county specially pleased me. I visited the seacoast and the foothills and everywhere beheld such a wealth of scenery and natural produce as I have never witnessed elsewhere.

"Down at San Diego I experienced the great sensation of my journey—a real trip through the clouds. I went up in an aeroplane and was taken right over all the magnificent panorama of San Diego Exposition grounds and bay. The seacoast there is charming and the whole climate unequaled. I hope to take other air trips some time soon. The sensation is delightful and the sense of new power is marvelous.

"Being at San Diego I naturally visited Mexico. The border is only 18 miles from the southern city. At Tia Juana, Mexico, we saw the Mexican soldiers that guard the Mexican border and the remains of the race course, destroyed by the great floods. A trip to Catalina island showed us another of the pleasure grounds of Southern California, where I visited the submarine gardens.

"Time would fail me to tell of all the delightful coast and mountain places I have seen. I hope to have time to visit them often again after I return to Glendale. I will have many wonders to relate on my return to Woodstock, Ont., which is a small town about eight miles from Toronto. I have been farming there but I think there is nothing I would desire more than to become a California rancher."

MISS PULLIAM HOSTESS

Miss Myrtle Pulliam very charmingly entertained at her home, 148 S. Kenwood street, Thursday evening, when a coterie of her friends enjoyed five hundred. The various rooms of the Pulliam residence that were given over to the evening's festivities were redolent with the fragrance of many spring blossoms. The music room was redolent with the perfume of purple lilacs. while the living room was aglow with many red roses arranged in tall vases and low cut bowls.

Pink carnations and white roses produced a most effective color scheme in the dining room.

In the interesting game Dr. Faye Stone won gentleman's first, and Miss Lorraine Mitchell lady's first. The consolation prizes were won by Shives Mitchell and Zetie Duncan, respectively.

Charles F. Parker of North Central avenue will motor to San Bernardino early Saturday morning, where he will spend the day.

PARKER PARAGRAPHS

PERSONAL, POLITICAL, PRACTICAL AND PATRIOTIC

The papers are airing a pitiful case—that of a young lawyer, Marcus P. Norton, who invented a canceling stamp used in the P. O. department whereby millions of expense was saved by the government in canceling and the inventor never received a single cent of pay for his device. He died in 1890, and the claim is yet before Congress, pressed by his widow, 80 years old, and going blind. For 30 years she has sought relief, with millions due her.

This is parallel to the "Myra Clark Gaines" New Orleans case, which she fought in Congress for nearly a century, wasting great wealth in the contest and when nearly ready to die from old age she won the suit—when it could be of little benefit to her. Had she not been a remarkable woman she would have died long before the decision was reached.

Another similar case—the "French Spoilation Claims," that grew out of French depradations on our commerce in the war of 1812. Ship owners in New Bedford, Conn., had legitimate claims that were pressed before Congress for two generations. When John Sherman was in the cabinet, he sought to help some needy parties, but they died before the award was made.

Some curious things are found in the rural newspapers. Of 50 examined 37 social events had "delicious lunch," while "dainty" stood for 3. Of 50 brides every one was "One of our most lovely young ladies." Of 50 births, both "Mother and babe were doing nicely." And all the deceased was "One of our oldest and most respected citizens."

Report is made of the arrest of a woman under such brutal usage by two or three policemen that she had to be hauled to the hospital for repairs. The charge was made that she had "resisted." What great "danger" the body of that policeman was in—hence the clubbing. Do our policemen become "brutal." How is it Chief Snively?

"The Mann Act," considering the importance and delicacy of the subject it relates to—is doing more good in protecting the heretofore helpless than any legislation ever attempted. Having known Congressman Mann from boyhood I find great additional reason in this to further admire him.

One hundred thousand soldiers have been rendered totally blind because of the war. Add to this the armless, legless, and otherwise mutilated victims of the awful "juggernaut" of war, and a faint idea of the cost may be had, and what for?

Three dollars per day is thought to be enough for employes at the White House, and Congressman Nolen (with $5,000 mileage, and franking privileges) is nosing around for that rate in the interest of economy. The president might live on less than $75,000 per annum, and Nolan might abate the mileage steal, but let the cheap help alone.

Unless the law rigidly fixes the amount, the paltry sum of ten dollars found so often assessed against prisoners of a certain type can hardly relieve the officials from the suspicion of being "partners in the game."

With nearly 2000 miles of border line between the United States and Mexico, the policing of that line by the regular army will continue for efficiency in our hands, and possibly be strengthened into respectability of numbers.

Feeling dreadfully bad over it, no doubt. The committee having these interests in charge solemnly announce that they will not be able to consider in congress any suffrage or prohibition this session. Every member of Congress must be elected this fall, who besides Randall will be returned?

Astonishment is frequently expressed that a man such as the president is thought to be, and a man such as the new senator from Indiana is supposed to be, could be such sudden close friends. "Politics make strange bedfellows."

Lost, lost, lost. Under the vigilance afore time in Los Angeles three roulette tables were seized and put out of business, or were they merely put in business in another place? Anyhow, they seem to be lost at date and the ever watchful

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, MARCH 31, 1916

LESSONS OF THE VILLA HUNT

After some time spent in hunting Villa the United States troops are finding how difficult it is to separate from one's base in a home country and fling one's lines far out in a country where supplies are not to be obtained and where one's enemies have unlimited supplies of ammunition while one's own supply has to be conveyed precariously by autocar over loose sand and rocks or trusted to the uncertainties of a Mexican railway, which may run or may not at the time scheduled.

As far as can be gathered from the meager news that filters through the nands of the United States censor or surreptitiously crosses the border with the few Americans who manage to follow the steps of the troops, and return, Villa is easily evading the pursuit that has been instituted. It is rumored that he was wounded during one of the recent encounters with the Carranzista troops and that he is now in hiding to recover from his wound. Too much credence need not be placed in this story. Villa has been reported wounded, dead, sentenced to be shot at sunrise and a sufferer from a hundred other casualties and still is alive and apparently as active as ever.

To a guerilla fighter of the Villa type the task of evading the American columns is easy. He is acquainted with the country and they are not. He has unrivaled means of ascertaining every movement of the American troops while they can gain nothing in that way from the natives who look on them as enemies.

Every step that the American troops take away from their base of supplies lands them in difficulties. They are inevitably tied down to the Mexican Northwestern Railway, while Villa is free to roam the hills as he may please. Furthermore, the longer the American troops are compelled to stay in Mexico the greater is the danger of a native uprising against them. There are certain elements both in Mexico and out of it that are eager to foment trouble.

THAT SUBMARINE TROUBLE

Those who imagined that it would be easy for the United States to keep out of the European war did not reckon with the evil of human nature. Eighteen months ago it would not have been credited that any civilized nation would have deliberately torpedoed a large ocean-going steamship, carrying neutral passengers. Eighteen months ago the American world would not have credited the fact that any civilized nation would solemnly pass its word that such practices would be stopped and then would deliberately continue them.

Such, however, appears to be the case as far as Germany is concerned. President Wilson is now gathering the facts in the case of the Sussex, the Englishman and other vessels neutral and otherwise, but all carrying American citizens, which have been ruthlessly sent to the bottom without warning by Teuton undersea boats. President Wilson is careful and deliberate in this matter and is not at all likely to be led into any rash action.

However, even the most cautious endeavor to avoid unnecessary trouble and to gather all the facts must come to an end. If it does not do so of itself a consummation will probably be forced by those who are engaged in this species of warfare against unarmed citizens of all countries and against women and children of all nationalities.

There is no evidence that the German admiralty has arrived at any determination to put an end to the submarine warfare against unarmed merchant vessels since Admiral Von Tirpitz' resignation. Von Tirpitz was credited with being the author and advocate of this policy; but it is apparent that the orders to "sink on sight vessels of all nationalities conveying traffic to the Allies" originated in higher quarters. It has the imperial sign manual stamped on its face. The situation is critical and war with a foreign nation was never closer to the United States than at present.

JAPAN'S WORK IN KOREA

Korea is a new country. The credit is due to Japan. Those who saw Korea in the old days when the native cities and villages were built on mounds of the decaying filth of centuries; when no native dreamed of washing his face or hands and looked upon a cold bath as next door to suicide, would wonder to behold the clean villages, neat as a new pin, the trim cities vieing with those of the United States, that the Japanese have compelled the natives to create and to keep in that condition.

Korea now has peace and order, laws and good government. The children have been sent to school and the former loafers to work. With idleness and filth, immorality and crime have been reduced to a minimum. Railroads and highways have been built, harbors and rivers improved, steamship lines started, forests conserved, put to use and replanted. The northern part of Korea in the Yalu region have immense forests and it will be remembered that it was on pretense of concession of those forests that Russia invaded Korea and brought on the war with Japan in 1905.

Best of all Japan has introduced a first-class system of education into the country. This system aims not only at giving the students a competent knowledge of modern learning but also at inculcating into their minds the principles of morality in which the country was long sadly deficient. The younger generation of Koreans has now character and stability of moral fiber such as the older people never understood.

New national characteristics have been roused and extended. A new national language has been created. The girls of the nation have had inculcated into them the principles of constancy and domesticity. The consequence of all this has been that all other things have been added to the nation. It now has a flourishing agriculture. Rice fields are carefully cultivated; silk culture has been encouraged and is flourishing. Forestry has been promoted and the lumber trade is making the fortunes of many of the natives as well as of the Japanese.

Fisheries are increasing and are being handled in such a manner as to conserve the riches of the sea. The literati class which formerly despised agricultural work or manual labor of any kind now takes a delight in growing things. The Japanese are great gardeners and they have taught the Koreans how to make a comfortable living out of their small plots of ground.

If anything could justify the annexation of Korea by Japan it would be the wonderful transformation that the Japanese have wrought in that land. Where corruption, filth and disease reigned supreme, social and political honesty, cleanliness and health are now to be found and one who knew the Koreans fifteen years ago would not recognize them now.

PARKER'S PARAGRAPHS

Norton is going to have those tables found or know why.

"Our city is as good and well managed as any of its size" is an apologetic speech too often made and full of error. Carried out logically it means that no big city can be good, and no little village need be very bad. As a fact size cuts no figure in the moral status of a place, if the officials obey the laws under which they are elected. Too often they are elected to violate them.

Is "safety first" any thing but a hollow mockery, while drunken drivers are permitted to run autcs? We notice that he still operates and will continue to do so as long as officials give him a license. Officials fine him lightly. All the intelligence you may put on a machine is discounted by an ignorant or a drunken driver.

Notwithstanding the general average of intelligence, the tenderfoot trampeth on the coast, and parts with his money, alike to the speculator and the confidence man. Not always, but often the same.

The flippant manner in which the recent Ford peace expedition is yet being spoken of as a failure, is mainly by parties not familiar with international questions, or who enjoy conditions of strife. Ford's effort will make it easier.

What a world-building will follow the war—what energy, vitality and enterprise will crowd in, to build up the waste places. What a lot of this will have to be done by maimed and crippled humanity. Will the others give them a chance?

DR. PRATT TELLS OF PAUL'S GREAT EPISTLE OF FAITH AT PRESBYTERIAN CLASS

At The People's Bible Class, Thursday evening, at the Presbyterian church, Dr. J. R. Pratt brought the first lesson from the Epistle to the Romans. As this epistle deals with the three covenants, God's covenants with the seed of the woman, the seed of Abraham and the seed of David, they were made the preliminary studies. The Holy Spirit has placed Romans first in although not first chronologicaily. Romans finds man lost and undone, leaves him justified by faith and then sanctified, taking him from the pit and placing him on the throne.

As we enter Romans we leave the world behind, becoming saints by the way of the cross, saints, but not saintly in the sight of God. The epistle is best studied under three heads, doctrinal, dispensational and practical. When doctrine is well established in heart and mind we are kept steady and strong, and right living flows out naturally. Man left Eden but God's plan is to bring him back through Jesus Christ.

We will look at Paul, the amanuensis of the Holy Spirit in the writing of this epistle. The life of Paul is an example and pattern to the Christians of this age. Inspired only by the Holy Spirit he is an ideal Christian. His recognition that he was a sinner, saved by grace, through faith in the Son of God, made him a pattern for all believers. Paul was the only man who was saved without preaching. The brightness of the glorified Christ struck him to the earth and he arose a converted man. Here he is a type of the conversian of his people; he speaks of himself as a man born aforetime. His relation to the glorified Christ whom he saw was that of a bond servant, the only place of perfect freedom, and the way to live the victorious life.

Paul was the bond servant of Jesus Christ, sealed by the Holy Spirit as a sign of the bargain, with but one thought, that of his master who had bought him with a price. Once the Holy Spirit has sealed a believer, God's mark is there to remain; the Holy Spirit may be grieved but not driven away from his own. When Paul had been bought and sealed he became an apostle, one who is sent, with a message, from his master. He was also called to a fellowship of suffering, which filled him with joy that he was counted worthy.

The study for the coming weeks will be in this epistle to the Romans.

CANTATA "BEN HUR"

For over two hours a large and appreciative audience remained seated in the large auditorium of the First Presbyterian church of Tropico, Thursday evening, and listened very attentively to the splendid rendition of the cantata, "Ben Hur," which was given by the Tropico Choral club, of which Mr. Charles Stewart is director. The performance of last night was the best musical production ever given in Tropico. Director Stewart demonstrated the fact most conclusively that he is a genius and his capacity as musical director is unquestionably of a high order. The singing of the choruses was splendidly rendered; each number being especially keenly appreciated by the audience. The music of the cantata is dignified and possesses many charms of refined melody. The trios by Mrs. Charles Stewart, Miss Dorothy Hobbs and Mrs. Joy Nash Ford were delightfully rendered. When the last sweet notes died away in the distance, there were many so deeply impressed with the perfect rendition that they refrained from any applause, preferring to all the more drink in the sweet melody, for the voices of these three vocalists, Mrs. Stewart, soprano, Miss Hobbs, mezzo soprano, and Mrs. Ford, contralto, frequently blended so in harmony that is seemed as though one sweet voice was producing the melody.

The solo productions were very beautifully rendered. Mrs. Charles Stewart, who is petite and of a most charming personality, possesses a voice that is lovely, tender and pure and her singing is pre-eminently soulful.

Miss Dorothy Hobbs, of a most charming and modest bearing, pleased the audience with her pure, sweet mezzo soprano. Her tones were richly colored with warm feeling.

Tall and stately, Mrs. Ford held her listeners by the capable rendition in the tenderest inflections in the most effective manner. Her intonations were remarkably correct. Wayland Brown delighted all with his several solos, singing in a clear, sweet tenor, each note distinctly and correctly intoned. Eugene J. Bayha won all with his fine bass voice, which was heard to excellent advantage in a number of solos. Dr. P. O. Lucas added his splendid tenor notes in several trios and quartettes.

Each feature of the cantata was so well and acceptably rendered that it would be difficult to select an outstanding one. The cantata was interspersed by Mrs. Wayland Brown, who read the lines. Mrs. Brown's work is all characterized by a fine intelligence and a marked ingenuousness that wins for her a host of friends. Her conception of her subjects is purely her own, but none better can be found. Her interpretation of "Ben Hur" was very magnetic and intensely interesting.

Miss Katherine Hobbs, as accompanist, emphasized by her technique and musical interpretations, her ability to lead vocal performances. The Choral club, the director, Mr. Stewart, and the reader, Mrs. Brown, are to be congratulated on the excellent musical work as well as for their noble aims in bringing such a delightfully arranged entertainment to the citizens of Tropico.

A man loses whole years of his life hunting for his hat—and a woman spends even more time than that trying to decide which one she wants to wear!

Mrs. Alec Mitchell, 2001 Kenneth road, is entertaining Mrs. John Roach and children. Mrs. Roach is the wife of the Registrar of the United States Land office.

Miss Barbara Mitchell, 2001 Kenneth road, will be a guest at a fashionable dance to be held tonight at the Hinkley hotel, Crown hill.

The little son of Mrs. Wilson, 829 N. Louise street, was hit by a passing auto Thursday evening. He and another child were playing on the street when the auto passed. The children naturally ran out of the road, but the Wilson child, childlike, attempted to "tag" the car, which struck him, inflicting a wound about an inch and a half in length. He is being cared for at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wouters of N. Central avenue left Friday for San Diego and Coronado Beach, where they will make a brief stay.

LITTLELANDS

The Pigeon club meets next Monday evening, April 3rd, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Chapp of San Ysidro road. Seven-thirty is the hour and all those interested in squab rearing are urged to be present.

Wednesday of last week Mrs. W. R. Mehard and Miss Emma Mehard arranged a delightful outing for several out-of-town guests. The party drove up Haines canyon road as far as they could and then hiked the rest of the way as far as Frank Begue's cabin. There they made coffee and spread a most delectable feast. The day was fair and the canyon arranged in its most fascinating spring apparel, and altogether the occasion was one of true enjoyment. Those present were Miss Emma Mehard and Mrs. and Miss Mead of Highland Park, Miss Kern of Saegarsville, Penn., and Mr. W. R. Mehard and Dr. and Mrs. Kearney.

Rev. Mr. Warnum occupied the pulpit of the Christian Federation last Sunday morning in place of the pastor, Mr. Wieman, who was called away to dedicate a new church where he had been the former pastor for ten years. Mr. Wornum preached a stirring sermon which was thoroughly appreciated by the Federation.

The school board held a meeting last Monday afternoon at which they appointed P. J. Blake, Inspector; Leo Lang and Ben Clark as judges on the Board of Election to serve at the election for school trustees which takes place next Friday, April 7. Mr. Arthur Well's term expires at that time.

Miss Helen Green returned home last week from Whittier, where she had been enjoying a delightful visit with friends and attending the Christian Endeavor convention, which was held at that place recently.

Last Sunday, on the road from La Crescenta over the new highway and through Littlelands, some observers witnessed an almost endless procession of autos of every description. The highway was so thickly traveled that it was scarcely safe for pedestrians. One wonders where they all come from and whither they are going.

Mrs. William Miles is spending some time visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Merwin, of Strawberry Park. Mr. Miles joined his wife the latter part of the week and they continued their visit over Sunday.

Mrs. Fortiner has returned to her home on San Ysidro road after spending several months in Colorado.

Miss Zoe Gilbert has added several rooms to her bungalow on Sunset boulevard, thus making her little home quite commodious.

Home Croft Club

There was a continuation of the talk on green crops for fertilization at the Friday evening meeting last week. Lupin and alfalfa were suggested as plants furnishing humus and fertility for the soil, by being plowed under. Burkett's book on soils was spoken of as containing valuable information to those interested in soil improvement. Mr. Hartranft had on exhibition a small apparatus costing 35 or 40 cents per dozen, that is to be used as a miniature cold frame to be placed over plants in the early spring. There was a tempting display of home prepared articles of food, such as bread, rolls, cookies, marmalade, etc.

Mr. Ashby again brought up the subject of a fair, to be held some time next fall, with exhibits of cookery, needlework, exhibits of various products; to wind up with a dinner and program of speeches, music, etc. And it was suggested that now is the time to begin planting for the exhibit. The Herbal committee reported that the members were experimenting with the calendula plant and the crops were coming on but unless it is planted in large quantities there will be very little profit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne, who have been occupying the Dr. Peters' house on Monte Vista boulevard, have gone there to live.

Remember the school election, one week from today, April 7. Polls open in the little building on the school grounds from 2 p. m. till 6 p. m.

Bee Club

The Bee club met in regular session Monday night. Most of the members have invested in one or more colonies of bees and there was much enthusiasm among those present at the meeting, which was one of interest and instruction. Mr. C. H. Clark, who lives at the north end of San Ysidro road, has invested in a small stock of bee supplies and will fill orders for any wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity for purchasing the apparatus necessary for bee culture.

Next Monday, if it is warm and pleasant and if not, next Wednesday, was set as the time to visit the apiary of Mr. Rhoades on Michigan avenue, just back of Miss Rodeheaver's place. About one o'clock was the hour named for the visit. Mr. Rhoades has extended this invitation to the Bee club as a neighborly courtesy, and it is hoped the members can arrange to be there. As many as possible, come. The next meeting of the club will occur the fourth Monday night in April at the usual place.

Town Meeting

The feasibility of municipal ownership of public utilities was ably discussed Tuesday evening by the moderator, Mr. Ashby, and by the clerk, Mr. C. H. Clark. Dr. Kearney, speaking for the school trustees, advised the waiting till fall to plant trees in the north school lot as the board will be unable to pipe that part of the grounds till that time. However there may be some trees set out in the south lot at once if desired. Dr. Kearney also spoke on the necessity of improving some of the streets leading from the east end of the colony that the travel may be diverted through our little burg instead of around and by the place.

Mr. Lamson announced that he was ready to take photos for his work in the preparation of the booklet displaying the beauties and advantages of this place, which is now under way by our Board of Trade. He had on display a number of photos of different pretty places in the colony. The Illinois people not having had time for the preparation of their program a miscellaneous program was given as follows: A reading, "They," by Mrs. Doan; song, "Somebody," sang by the audience; a reading, "Let's Do It Now," by Mrs. Marston; little Bernice Marston then read a selection, "Where Did You Come From Baby Dear?" and her sister Lorraine gave a recitation.

TEACHERS VS. STUDENTS

The most exciting baseball game of the present season was, without doubt, the game played at the Intermediate school Thursday between the teacher and student teams, in which the teachers emerged victors by the score of 8-6. The "features" of the game were the hitting of Springer and Mr. White and the fielding of certain pedagogues. The teams lined up as follows:

Teachers—R. D. White, r.f.; Springer, c.f.; Lehman, p.; Polley, 2nd; Cleeland, s.s.; Daub, c.; Clark, 1st; Shively, 3rd; Siberell, l.f.; Hilliker, sub, c.f.

THEIR PEER

Men
May bear the blazon wrought of centuries, hold
Their armories higher than arms imperial, yet
Know that the least their countrymen, whose hand
Hath done his country service, lives their peer,
And peer of all their fathers.
—Swinburne.

VAIN HOPE

"Everybody says I'm light on my feet, father," said the gilded youth.

"Umph," replied the disappointed parent, who didn't raise his boy to be a dancer. "I wouldn't go so far as to wish you had been born club-footed son, but I do wish your head was heavy enough to act as a sort of drag to your feet."

FRUIT

Hast thou fruit on thy tree?
Quick take it from the bough,—
That which has ripened now
Thine still may be. —Goethe.
